Ronald McDonald House Dallas

KEEPING FAMILIES CLOSE®

Dear Friends of RMHD,

Serving as Board Chair for Ronald McDonald House of Dallas has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. Over the past few years, I have been inspired by the resilience of the families we serve, the dedication of our staff, and the generosity of our supporters. Together, we have strengthened the foundation of the House that Love Built, ensuring it remains a beacon of hope and comfort for families seeking critical medical care for their sick or injured child(ren) in Dallas.

I am especially proud of the strides we've made in expanding our House and its programs, creating an even more welcoming environment, and touching more lives across Dallas and beyond. The impact of this work is immeasurable, and I am truly grateful to have been part of it.

The pages of this Winter Edition of our From the Heart magazine includes many examples of the "good" taking place at 4707 Bengal Street through the hands and hearts of volunteers, donors, committed staff, and countless partners.

As I pass the torch to Chair Elect, Meredith Clavenna, I am filled with optimism about the future of RMHD. With the ongoing support of this incredible community – one of the most loyal and generous I've ever known – I am certain that the best is yet to come. It's been such a privilege to be a part of RMHD's leadership legacy, along with fellow board members, Dolly Dribben, James Carrol, Tim Go, and Jenny Hanlon, whose tenures are ending in 2024.

I'm also very excited to welcome a dynamic group of newly elected Board Members who will kick off their volunteer leadership service in January – Jonathan Adamson (Autumn Glory Partners), Matt Freimuth (Truist), Jason Keever (Ryan, LLC), Dale Kunneman (HF Sinclair), Sarah Mills (Jabian Consulting), Neil Robinson (SMU), and Pallavi Singaraju (Grant Thornton).

Warmest Regards this Holiday Season,
Pat Staudt

Celebrating 50 Years of Compassionate Care

On October 15, our staff donned blue shirts to acknowledge the 50th Anniversary of Ronald McDonald House Charities (RMHC), founded in 1974 in Philadelphia through a successful and strategic partnership between groundbreaking pediatric oncologist, Dr. Audrey Evans, McDonald's, and The Philadelphia Eagles. At the RMHC International Conference in Chicago this past July, thousands of staff and volunteer leadership from Houses representing over 40 countries gathered to celebrate this dynamic milestone, five decades of impact, and hear the global goals through 2030 that will embolden Ronald McDonald House Charities to "overwhelm the world with GOODNESS."

Ronald McDonald House of Dallas, the 20th House to be built, is proud to be a part of such a long and wonderful legacy, now standing as the 8th largest House out of 390 worldwide. As Dallas/Fort Worth continues to grow and thrive as a destination for quality healthcare, we look forward to continuing the noble pursuit of RMHC's vision of a world where every family has what they need to ensure the best health outcomes for their children.

Creating a Home Where Hope Thrives

Meet our Chief Operating Officer: Dr. Jennifer Pitts

Jennifer Pitts, Ed.D., as the Chief Operating Officer at Ronald McDonald House of Dallas (RMHD), brings a unique blend of passion for service, strategic leadership, and a commitment to improving the lives of families during their most challenging times. With years of experience in overseeing programs that directly impact families, she is dedicated to ensuring smooth operations and creating a welcoming, supportive environment here at RMHD.

Reflecting on her journey, Dr. Pitts shares, "I joined this team because I believe that compassion, when combined with action, has the power to change lives. Every family that walks through our doors is facing unimaginable difficulty, and I feel it's our job to not only offer them a place to stay but a community of support."
Dr. Pitts' dedication to family-centered care and operational excellence ensures that RMHD continues to be a home away from home for families in need.

Can you tell us about your role at RMHD and what your day-to-day responsibilities look like?

As the Chief Operating Officer at Ronald McDonald House of Dallas, my primary focus is ensuring that our operations run smoothly and that we deliver on our mission to support families during challenging times. My day-to-day responsibilities include overseeing all of our key programs, such as meal services, building operations, and family support initiatives. I also work closely with our leadership team to implement policies, manage resources, and drive continuous improvements to ensure we meet the needs of every family who walks through our doors.

What's one of the most rewarding aspects of your job at RMHD?

One of the most rewarding aspects of my job is seeing the direct impact we have on the families we serve. Whether it's a warm meal, a safe and comfortable room, or just a moment of relief for a parent, every small gesture matters. Knowing that we're providing comfort and stability during what is likely one of the toughest periods in a family's life is incredibly fulfilling. It's truly an honor to be part of a team that makes such a meaningful difference.

What do you think makes RMHD unique in supporting families in need?

What makes RMHD unique is our holistic approach to care. We don't just provide a place to stay; we create a community where families can find emotional and social support. Our programs, from the meals program to family-centered activities, are designed to alleviate as much stress as possible so that families can focus on what matters most—the health and well-being of their child. We are not just a house; we are a home away from home for these families, and that's something special.

You've been with the organization for a few months now. What are some of the biggest challenges you face in your role, and how do you overcome them?

One of the biggest challenges I face in my role is balancing the immediate needs of the families we serve with the long-term sustainability of our programs. We're always looking for ways to enhance the services we provide, but we must do so while managing resources efficiently. Another challenge is ensuring that every staff member and volunteer is aligned with our mission and that we're working together seamlessly. To overcome these challenges, I focus on communication and collaboration—making sure we're constantly evaluating our processes and finding innovative solutions. It's about being adaptable and forward-thinking while always keeping the families at the heart of our decisions.

What advice would you give to someone looking to get involved with RMHD, either as a volunteer or staff member?

My advice is simple: just show up with an open heart. Whether you're looking to volunteer or become a part of our team, it's all about being ready to offer compassion, support, and your time. At RMHD, it's not just about fulfilling a role; it's about being a part of a community that makes a tangible difference in people's lives. Every contribution matters, whether you're cooking a meal, lending an ear to a parent, or helping with day-to-day operations. If you're passionate about helping others, RMHD is the perfect place to make a real impact.

What keeps you motivated and inspired in your role?

The families are my greatest source of motivation. Seeing their resilience, strength, and love in the face of adversity reminds me daily of why we do what we do. It's incredibly inspiring to know that we're helping to make their lives just a little bit easier during a very difficult time. Also, working with a team that is so dedicated to our mission keeps me energized. There's a deep sense of purpose in knowing that every effort we put in is contributing to something bigger—a community that supports one another.

The Andrade Family's Journey of Strength & Hope

The Andrades are a close-knit family from East Texas, by way of Mexico, whose lives took an unexpected turn this past June. Jose and Faviola's eldest child and only daughter, Maria, fell ill due to a combination of insect bites—a spider bite, mosquito bite, and tick bite—which triggered a cascade of health challenges, including long-term liver, kidney, and pancreas disease. She also developed a bone infection that affected her left elbow, both knees, and her hip, requiring multiple surgeries.

The Andrade family's trials didn't stop there. On the Fourth of July, Maria's right lung collapsed, leading to a heart attack. For 62 long seconds, her family "lost" her. But with sheer resilience and the help of doctors, Maria slowly began her recovery, enduring four chest tubes to relieve the pressure on her lungs. Through it all, her father, Jose, would call her his "little monkey," while telling the doctors and nurses, "She may be small, but she has the heart of King Kong."

For the Andrade family, the Ronald McDonald House of Dallas (RMHD) has been more than just a place to stay. It has been a haven, keeping their family under one roof during the most challenging period of their lives. "We've always been close," Mr. Andrade says. "But when Maria first got sick, our family was separated—my wife and I stayed with her while our two sons – Jose and Luis - remained back home. That was one of the hardest parts. Ronald McDonald House gave us the chance to be together again."

Being able to have his wife and children close provided comfort and peace of mind in an otherwise overwhelming situation. "This place is truly a blessing for our family," Mr. Andrade shares with sincere gratitude. "The House brought a sense of normalcy and togetherness when everything else felt uncertain."

"Ronald McDonald House gave us the chance to be together again."

The Andrade family's journey hasn't been easy. Having only moved to the United States last summer to build a hopeful future together, they found themselves starting over in East Texas.

"Maria's illness interrupted everything," reflects Mr. Andrade, who drives a 4-hour commute (2 hours both ways) to East Texas every day for work, returning to the House that Love Built in Dallas each night to be with his family. "Watching her fight through this has reminded us that life is too short."

Despite the hardships, the Andrade family remains hopeful, grateful for the strength they've found in each other and the compassionate care and support they've received from RMHD. While Maria continues to recover over the next few months, her brothers have enrolled at a nearby school, and she was selected to be the Kid Conductor for Ronald McDonald House of Dallas' 2024 Trains at NorthPark exhibit, which proved to be a great treat for the entire Andrade family! Through the challenges, their story remains one of perseverance, love, and the unyielding power of family.

Corporate Partnerships Are Soaring at RMHD

At Ronald McDonald House of Dallas, 2024 has been a year of incredible growth and engagement, thanks to the support of our invaluable corporate and organizational partners. These partnerships play a vital role in providing the funding, volunteerism, and resources necessary to support our mission of keeping families close during challenging times.

This year, RMHD has welcomed new partners like the City of Dallas Park and Recreation Department, Acquire BPO, and Lennar Homes, alongside deeper collaborations with long-standing supporters such as Southwest Airlines, Addison Rotary, and HF Sinclair. New third-party initiatives have also been instrumental, with organizations like Windsor Apartment Communities, Cavender Auto Group, and The Hopeful Theatre Project making a significant impact.

We are especially grateful for Southwest Airlines' longstanding partnership, which includes regular support of our Meals that Heal program, employee giving campaigns, the donation of flights to families, and special events such as the SWA Supply Chain golf tournament, the Texas/Oklahoma Plane Pull, and the inaugural Wings & Wheels event. Together, Southwest Airlines and RMHD's hearts are aligned in a shared mission to do good, creating meaningful impacts for families in need and serving as a model for compassionate community engagement.

Our excitement is especially high for our partnership with City of Dallas Park and Recreation in 2025, which kicks off its support of various House programs, such as Camp Cornet, and the provision of and access to recreational activities that connect children and families to area parks, libraries, and other community resources for meaningful family time and fun.

We're also thrilled to announce Lennar Homes' commitment of $58,000 per year for three years, dedicated to supporting RMHD's essential transportation program, which ensures our families without vehicles can access medical care and vital services during their stay.

At a recent check presentation at the House, Greg Mayberry, Division President of Lennar DFW, stated that Ronald McDonald House of Dallas embodies the critical core values of Lennar. "The ability to have an impact on folks' lives is paramount…it seems like a seamless alignment between Lennar and Ronald McDonald House," he says. "We're excited to join hands and work together. We're very happy to contribute to their ability to help families."

Corporate partners also continue to play a pivotal role in our major fundraisers as sponsors. LiquidAgents Healthcare served as title sponsor of the annual Gala, while Bank of Texas renewed its support as presenting sponsor of TRAINS AT NORTHPARK for the 16th consecutive year. These partnerships provide critical funding that allows RMHD to offer comfort, care, and hope to families when they need it most.

Ronald McDonald House of Dallas is emboldened by the generosity of members of the business and civic community.

When Life Interrupts, Love Answers

Families need our FREE care more than ever. Scan the QR code to hear how one family's life was interrupted and the ways RMHD was able to answer the call.

Thank you for supporting the House that Love Built!

One moment, everything is as it should be—then it isn't. Families arrive at our door with their lives interrupted by a diagnosis, a medical emergency, or mounting bills. They come to Dallas seeking healing, their hearts heavy and worlds turned upside down. But here, in the House that Love built, they find more than shelter—they find hope.

For 43 years, Ronald McDonald House of Dallas has been a refuge, offering more than a bed and a meal. We provide comfort, a home-away-from-home, and peace of mind so parents can focus on their child's health. But today, more families are knocking, and too many are being turned away. We need your help to meet this growing demand.

This holiday season, your gift can make a lasting impact. Every donation helps us provide love, warmth, and support during life's hardest moments. Together, we can ensure no family is left without hope, comfort, or a home. When love answers, miracles happen.

Your contribution translates into IMPACT:

- A gift of $25 provides snacks for one family during their stay
- A gift of $100 provides transportation for families to and from the hospital for one week
- A gift of $500 provides 1 meal to our families
- A gift of $2,500 helps RMHD cover utilities and household supplies for one week in our 78,000 sq.ft. facility, with 89 rooms
- A gift of $5,500 covers the cost of one guest room for one month

Meet The Volunteer Services Team

The friendly faces of RMHD

Volunteer Services Manager

As the Volunteer Services Manager at RMHD, Melissa has seen countless acts of kindness, but what stands out most is the energy and heart our volunteers bring to the families. These dedicated individuals give their time, often sacrificing weekends and evenings, to create moments of joy and relief for families facing unimaginable challenges. Whether they're hosting game nights, leading crafts, or preparing comforting meals, Martin believes they don't just fill the days with activities, they fill hearts with hope.

According to Melissa, parents frequently share how much these small moments mean—watching their children smile or laugh again, even briefly, brings a sense of comfort during tough times. Volunteers, whether they're seasoned or first-timers, demonstrate that compassion has no limits. She believes, together, we can uplift families in their most difficult moments and provide them with the care and hope they need to stay strong.

Kristin Killgo
Family Activities Manager

At RMHD, overseeing group volunteers is a vibrant and heartwarming job, filled with opportunities to make a real impact. From meal groups to family activities, each day brings a chance to turn stress into joy. One unforgettable moment came on Kristin's second day during a summer kick-off party. Overwhelmed by the newness of the role, she heard a child shout, "This is the best day of my life!" In that instant, the pressure faded, and she knew she was exactly where she needed to be.

Killgo has observed what sets RMHD apart from other organizations – the holistic care for the entire family, ensuring that everyone—not just the patient—feels supported. She also values the team culture at RMHD where it is all about pitching in, whether it's cooking meals or helping wherever needed. She encourages volunteers to come in with an open mind and heart, as everyone who walks into our House has a different story and it is an honor to be a small part of it.

Meet Three Dynamic Volunteers for RMHD

Steven Zackert and The Harvey's

"Zackert and The Harvey's" may sound like the name of a classic rock group, but this trio is far from it, although they do make the hearts of RMHD staff and families sing with their loyal and generous gift of volunteerism. Steven Zackert has volunteered with the House for a decade in a unique capacity, while Sally and Roy Harvey have joyously and consistently served as front desk receptionists together, once a week. They represent just three of over 3,000 volunteers our House depends on each year to join us in providing dignified and compassionate care to the children and families who call RMHD their home-away-from-home.

Steve began volunteering in 2014 after retiring from a Finance position with the City of Mesquite. After selling his house and moving to the neighborhood, he decided to start volunteering, first at the front desk and in the kitchen. "When Whitney (RMHD's CFO) broke her wrist, I was recruited to start helping with financial reporting since I have a degree in accounting. From there, I eventually started working on annual reporting for TRAINS AT NORTHPARK," shares Zackert.

His financial reporting for RMHD's largest and signature fundraising event, TRAINS, is significant and extensive. He pulls all the data from the POS software utilized for TRAINS and the result is typically a 20-page report summarizing all the important financial data and statistics from the seven to eight weeks run of TRAINS, that is in essence an annual seasonal business benefiting Ronald McDonald House of Dallas. "I make sure to report historical data as well, so RMHD knows what works and what needs improvement," he explains.

Sally Harvey began volunteering for RMHD thirteen years ago, while she was still working and found it to be a lot of fun. Roy joined her three years ago, after retiring. They work as front desk volunteers every Monday, accepting daily shipments from FedEX, Amazon, USPS and UPS and assisting guest families. "We make sure RMHD runs efficiently and help with problems. Roy drives families to and from the hospitals, connecting with many of them," says Sally.

Volunteering with Ronald McDonald House of Dallas is personal for the Harvey's as they have a son that went to Scottish Rite and their daughter worked as a nurse there. She currently works with another partner hospital of RMHD – Children's Health, in the Oncology Department. "We love this community and helping people," Roy shares. Always with a happy heart and welcoming spirit, he also admits their goal to get people to smile and laugh as often as possible.

For Steve, RMHD is a great fit because he's able to contribute using his accounting skillset. "I also get along really well with the staff," he says. "I see this as my contribution to human kindness."

VOLUNTEERHIGHLIGHT///

RMHD's Teen Team

Proves There's No Age Limit on Compassion

At Ronald McDonald House of Dallas, the spirit of service comes to life in so many ways. But nothing compares to the energy, enthusiasm, and heart brought by one group in particular—the Teen Team.

These high school students, who volunteer their weekends, evenings, and school breaks, are more than just helping hands. They're young leaders learning the power of compassion and making a lasting difference in the lives of families going through the hardest moments imaginable.

"These teens aren't just here to help," says Melissa Martin, Volunteer Services Manager, "They're here to offer hope. In the middle of all the uncertainty and stress, they give families a reason to smile."

RMHD's Teen Team steps in to remind our House guests that they are surrounded by a community that cares. Throughout the year, the teens take on a wide variety of tasks designed to bring comfort, joy, and a sense of normalcy to families by hosting game nights, leading craft activities, or assisting with scavenger hunts during the popular Trains at NorthPark exhibit. Their contributions are felt deeply. And for families in need of a good meal, the Teen Team often steps into the kitchen, cooking comforting dishes that nourish both the body and the soul.

For the teenagers, many of whom are experiencing the joy of giving back for the first time, volunteering at RMHD is an opportunity to grow, learn, and develop a deeper sense of empathy. They see firsthand the impact that even small acts of kindness can have on someone's life, and it's a lesson that will stay with them long after their time on the Teen Team is over.

The Sladek Family

Helping Hands for Meals That Heal

RMHD is among less than 40% of 390 Houses globally that serve a meal to their families. We also represent an even smaller number of Houses to serve 3 meals a day.

For over three decades, our Meals That Heal program has been a cornerstone of the support services we provide, ensuring that families have access to nutritious meals while they focus on the health and recovery of their child. Our House kitchen is truly the "heart" of the HOUSE that Love Built in Dallas.

Commercial Real Estate Attorney Bill Sladek and his family have been cooking and volunteering in Ronald McDonald House of Dallas' kitchen monthly, for almost fourteen years. "The Meals program and the RMHD families have a special place in our hearts," says Mr. Sladek, who has worked on some of the highest profile retail and mixed-use developments in North Texas.

The House's vital Meals That Heal program is solely supported by the dedication of approximately 800 volunteers and the culinary skill of a small and talented kitchen staff that includes an onsite Chef, food services coordinator, and an incoming sous-chef.

The Sladek family proudly call themselves members of the army of willing workers that regularly share their time ensuring RMHD's Meals that Heal program thrives. In fact, Bill's commitment to Chef Zach's vision for the program was made evident in his successful recruitment of five area well respected, celebrity chefs for the House's inaugural Chili Cook off held on North Texas Giving Day, in September, that included Chef Richard Chamberlain, Chef Jim Severson, and Top Chef, John Tesar.

The 2024 TRAINS AT NORTHPARK

presented by Bank of Texas, is back and bigger than ever, blending a 37-year cherished tradition with exciting new features to support Ronald McDonald House of Dallas.

This year marks the largest footprint for TRAINS, that will run through January 5, enchanting approximately 50,000 families, while raising critical funds to keep the families that call RMHD a temporary home-away-from-home, close during their children's medical treatments.

Co-chaired by Becky Jones and Cory Bowen, with Amanda and G. Brint Ryan as Honorary Chairs, an ambitious goal to raise $1.1 Million for RMHD's programs has been set for 2024. New highlights of the exhibit include ReBokeh technology, enhancing the visual experience for individuals with visual impairments; sensory friendly hours; expanded merchandise options in the Bywaters Gift Shop; and a S.T.E.A.M. inspired experience, exploring the science of trains and that of the various trainscapes included in the exhibit.

In addition, all children visiting this year are gifted with a free activity and coloring book as a special memento, designed by three art students at Savannah College of Art and Design.

RMHD is grateful for the generous support of Nancy Nasher and the NorthPark team for hosting this signature fundraiser for the House and its successful collaboration with TW Train Worx whose unique craftsmanship and design elements provide stunning layouts and trainscapes, including one completely made of Legos!
It's more than an event—it's a celebration of art, community, and the season of giving.

Roger Farkash, TW Train Worx Chief Traingineer who has been collecting trains since he was three years old, says that there is no separating Christmas and the Holidays from TRAINS. "It's a tradition for so many families. This is such a special occasion, and I can go to the House and see how TRAINS is contributing there through the experience TW Worx has created through the exhibit." Farkash and so many more are inspired by the healing and hope that ultimately comes from the "wonder" of TRAINS.

RMHD HOLDS INAUGURAL EVENT ON NORTH TEXAS GIVING DAY

North Texas Giving Day, the Communities Foundation of Texas' largest community investment initiative and one of the country's most celebrated philanthropic ventures, was truly a day of FUNd-raising for RMHD! Not only did we exceed our budgeted goal of $100,000 by garnering $110,260 (the largest to date) - $50,000 of which was a contribution from an Anonymous Friend – but RMHD also held an inaugural GREAT CHILI COOK OFF & OPEN HOUSE to create excitement and exposure around our mission and great works. This was also an opportunity to ensure a bit of fun and respite for our families, as we partnered with several area artists and organizations to provide a myriad of in-kind activities and entertainment throughout the day, including aerial performances, face painting, family portraits, a fun bus, train ride, and more.

Much appreciation to Amazing Attractions, Bubble Truck D/FW, Dallas Circus Center, Fun Bus Dallas County, Ghostbusters: Texas Rangers Division, Mini Hooves of Love, and Texas Johnny 5 Build for spreading joy at our House and to Dallas Park and Recreation, PAH Management, and Southwest Airlines' employees for volunteering on the big day. We were thrilled to have five area celebrated chefs serve as judges for our kick-off that included three competing teams – Friends of the House (RMHD's Young Professionals auxiliary), a House Guests family team led by Christina Tutt, and Quality Custom Distribution (QCD). Richard Chamberlain (Chamberlain's Steak & Fish), Lan Nickens (Chamberlain's), Jim Severson (Sevy's), Top Chef John Tesar (Knife), and Michael "Buzzy" Zeve (Sevy's) were impressed by all of the chili and selected QCD's offering as their favorite.

Another high note of the day was a surprise visit from Olympic Gold Medalist, Michelle Carter, who medaled in shot put at the 2016 Rio Olympics. She is the first American woman to win gold in the sport and grew up in Red Oak.

RMHD is tremendously grateful for the generosity of so many friends – old and new – who helped make North Texas Giving Day such a success.

Ronald McDonald House of Dallas (RMHD) is keeping families together, inspiring strength, and giving love and support to families whose children are receiving essential medical care.

In an effort to lessen the burden, reduce stress, keep the family intact, and enhance the quality of life for these families, RMHD provides temporary housing in a caring home-like atmosphere. The Ronald McDonald House program was built on the simple idea that nothing else should matter when a family is focused on healing their child – not where they can afford to stay, where they will get their next meal, or where they will lay their head at night to rest.
